"Reveries" A Vehicle For Talent In Arts

A unique experiment in creative writing has turned into an inter-departmental, inter-disciplinary fine arts magazine at Lincoln-Way High School in New Lenox.

In its third year, "Reveries" has become a vehicle for displaying the talent of high school students, according to Miss Lynn Hey and James Pitcairn, co-sponsors of the effort.

"Reveries" accepts both good writing and artwork from students. It is written and illustrated entirely by them.

Also Lots 1 to 11 inclusive and part Lot 12 also Boyer Court, and Scott St. in Boyera Vista Heights.

Originally the magazine was limited to Junior Honors English classes and the art classes. However, any student is now eligible to submit to "Reveries."

Included in the magazine are both fiction and non-fiction, prose and poetry and artwork. The only criteria for inclusion is excellence.

A fine arts committee chosen by the sponsors meets each spring to pick best literary and artistic effort of the magazine.

Prizes are given to winners in both literary and art fields. Last year's prize consisted of large plaques for each winner.

The funds to buy the awards were donated by a Lincoln-Way area merchant who wished to have a hand in furthering the awareness of fine arts at the school.

Each of the past efforts has been evaluated by the Columbia University Scholastic Press Association. Ratings do not come out until April, however.

Fine arts magazines are generally found on only the college level. Few other high schools in the Joliet area have them.

The 28 page booklet is distributed free to all students at the high school as well as to other high schools in the Southwest Suburban Conference.

Fugitive From Traffic Arrest Lands In Jail

Franklin D. Thoms, 21, one time resident of Orland Park and Mokena, whose last known address is 14208 Woodland, Oak Park, is in the Will County jail facing a variety of charges brought by Mokena Police.

The most serious of the charges, escape from an officer after arrest, requires a bond of $10,000.

Thoms was stopped by Mokena Officer Wayne Ryder at 10:30 p.m. Oct. 25, charged with running a stop sign. Thoms had no driver's license on his person but said it was at his place of residence, then at 11038 Revere Rd., Mokena, and asked Ryder to accompany him there. The officer did but when Thoms got out of his car he dashed into a cornfield and escaped, it was charged.

Ryder began a hunt for him that ended about 3 a.m. last Saturday, when Thoms was arrested in a Lemont saloon by Will County Deputy Peter Haas and Lemont police. He was turned over to Ryder who took him to the Will County jail.

Thoms also faces charges of driving without a driver's license, operating a car with a suspended driver's license, driving a car without a muffler, and driving a car that was improperly registered with the state. County, state and area police assisted in tracking Thoms down.

Federal S & L Mails Yule Savings

Checks totaling $886,110.60 are being placed in the mail this weekend to members of Joliet Federal's Christmas Club, according to an announcement made today by John B. Figel, Association president.

"We are pleased that not only do our savers have spending money for their important gifts and year end expenses but also that these funds have a powerful influence on the economy of the entire Joliet region", Figel said.

POW Urges Green Garden As Site For 3d Airport

The Orland Park Village Board, which is a part of the Palos - Orland - Worth Council, joined that body in passage of a resolution urging the Chicago Aviation Commission to put Green Garden back in the running as the site for the area's third international airport.

The Orland trustees had adopted a resolution some months ago backing the Green Garden site but they were glad to join with the other communities that make up the POW Council in again urging that the Green Garden site be chosen.

It would be much cheaper to develop than other land sites while the lake site favored by Mayor Daley of Chicago would cost an astronomical sum as well as be impractical for many reasons, not the least of which would be the safety of passengers and plane crews, it was pointed out.

Trustee Joseph Henely, whose business is centered at O'Hare Airport, joined with the other trustees in approving the resolution for the Green Garden site but pointed out that the airport would go where Chicago or Daley wanted it to go. Chicago is the only place in the region that could afford to back the financing of such a project as an international airport, he said.

Annexation of the Green Garden site could be carried out, it was argued so Chicago could have its third airport and not have it squatting down in the lake just off the Loop, and adding to traffic congestion that already is a serious problem, it was stated.

The POW Council, in urging its resolution, pointed out as it stands now Green Garden is not even regarded as an alternate site.

Mayor Daley's commission said Green Garden could not be considered because it was more than 60 minutes from the Loop. This contradicted another report from the commission which said that Green Garden was less than 60 minutes away from downtown Chicago. Green Garden could be served with mass transportation, it was said.

Instead of the Green Garden site, the alternate, now on record, would be the land east of U.S. 45 and extending from near I-80 on the north to near the south edge of Frankfort on the south. The eastern limit would be in the vicinity of Harlem Av., it was said. This site, it was pointed out, would require the purchase of vast improved sections and the re-location of U.S. 30 and the Illinois Central railroad. Green Garden is all farmland and with no hills.

There are 27 communities and numerous Chambers of Commerce that are urging the Green Garden site and are hopeful of creating enough public pressure to have some effect on the selection.

Take Formal Action To Acquire Mall Site

An ordinance authorizing the Village of Mokena to purchase a portion of the parking areas bordering the south side of Front St. between Wolf Rd. and Mokena St., has been adopted by the board of trustees.

The property involved, owned by the Rock Island Lines and the S.W. Hauck Oil Service, Inc., would be purchased thru installments spread over a period of not less than 10 nor more than 20 years.

These installment contracts, provided for in the ordinance adopted, would be contingent on the condition that within 30 days after the execution of the agreements the village board adopt an ordinance for the levy and collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the annual installments.

To this end the Mokena Village clerk would file a certified copy of the contract and of the tax levy ordinance with the county clerk.

Price of the property totals $30,500. Of this sum $19,000 represents the price of the land owned by the Rock Island and the remaining $11,500 would be for the piece owned by Hauck Oil. Hauck Oil retains mineral and oil rights. By purchasing it thru installments there would also be interest, which, according to the ordinance, is not to exceed 6 1/2 per cent.

The property involved is 50 feet wide and extends from Mokena St. to Wolf Rd. The railroad indicated, according to village officials, that it would lease another strip bordering the front section on the south for a nominal sum.

The property is wanted to create a mall, with sidewalks, shrubbery, flowers and a surfaced parking area. The mall was suggested by the Mokena Chamber of Commerce. It has raised $5,000 which will serve as the down payment on the land purchase, it was explained, and is now engaged in raising funds for improvement of the property.

For the village to buy the land it must publish its intention to purchase, as prescribed by state law. It is doing that thru passage and publication of the ordinance which appears in this issue and the next.

Here's Chance To Get A Turkey Free

Fifteen area merchants are participating in the annual turkey giveaway in preparation for Thanksgiving.

This is really a giveaway, it was pointed out, because no one has to buy anything to have a chance at the turkeys. And by the same token -- because there isn't anything to buy, be it ticket or merchandise, and there is no necessity to be present at the drawing -- it is not a lottery.

The only thing one has to do is write his or her name on one of the coupons appearing on the turkey page in this issue and deposit it in a container in the merchant's place of business. In fact there is nothing to prevent anyone from depositing a coupon in each and every store involved.

Merchants with turkeys to give away are:

New Lenox: Braun's Sales; Abe Frank's Liquors; Lincoln-Way Savings and Loan; First Lady Beauty Salon; Lincoln-Way Pharmacy; New Lenox Standard Service, and New Lenox Lumber Co.

Mokena: Curling Iron Salon; Mokena Pharmacy; Mokena Standard Service, and Welsch Lumber Co.

Orland Park: Norman Cleaners and Orland State Bank.

Frankfort: Frankfort State Bank.

Mokena Sets Up Policy On Water and Sewer Extension

The Mokena Village Board, intensely interested in attracting industry to the area, has adopted a resolution setting up a policy governing water and sewer services.

Mokena has village owned water and sewer systems, the resolution reads, and the lines have been extended so the entire incorporated area is serviced.

The village has two wells, the newer and larger one being tested at more than 2,200 gallons a minute. These wells, it was pointed out, with a 300,000 gallon storage tank, provides an adequate water supply for home and plant use, and fire protection. The new well has a pump with a 750 gallon per minute capacity while the pump on the other well delivers 350 gallons a minute.

These pumps are controlled from a single master control system, that operates them alternately or simultaneously as the need may be. As required by law, the water is both chlorinated and fluoridated.

The sewer system, the resolution states, is 10 years old. The treatment plant has a capacity of more than double its present use and the board points out that a settling, or polishing pond, is to be built next year. The design and plans are completed and the pond will be built to comply with state statutes.

It is the policy of the village to provide sewer and water service only to property within the village. Property outside the corporate limits must be annexed if it is to get these services, it was stated.

Water and sewer requirements vary for each industrial development, the policy statement reads, therefore the board can't say exactly what it can offer. Future expansion depends upon the location and size of the industrial area. The Mokena Industrial Development Committee and the Mokena Plan Commission, thru the Village Board will cooperate to the best of their ability with any firm or persons desiring water and sewer service.

"The exact arrangement for financing the expansion of the water and sewer systems will be on the basis of mutual agreements between the village and the applicants, such as:

Plan Human Relations Workshops

The Palos-Orland Human Relations Council, recently formed, plans a series of workshops on Monday evenings, beginning Nov. 25 and running thru Dec. 16.

The meetings will run from 7:30 to 10:30 and will be held in Palos West Elementary School, 12700 S. 104th Av.

According to a spokesman the workshop program is under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, which will provide the resource material and a trained moderator to guide the participants.

Merchants Lose First Cage Tilt

The Orland Park Merchants basketball game sponsored by the Orland Park Chamber of Commerce will not have to worry about the pressures of an unbeaten season as they lost their very first game to a highly discipline and hot shooting Mendota squad just plain out - played, out-classed and out-shot the Merchants. The game was played Nov. 9 at Chicago Stadium.

Orland Park actually lost the game at the free throw stripe as they hit on only 23 of 46 charity tosses while Mendota netted a torrid 25 of 28. The final score of 103 to 89 not indicative of the ragged performance turned in by Orland Park.

The Merchants lead for most the first period, but were down 51 to 46 at half time.

Mendotas' Willie Hanson took game honors with 33 points on 11 baskets and went 11 for 11 at the free throw stripe. About the only bright spot in the Merchants performance was Bruce Hodges' 27 points.

"1. - The village finance the expansion to the property line.

"2. - The village assist in financing the expansion to the property line.

"3. - The applicant finance the expansion to the property line, with rebate for 'tap-on's' on the line.

"4. - The applicant finance the expansion with village concession on reduced water and sewer rates.

"There may be other mutual agreements available and will be fully discussed at the applicant's convenience.

"At present the water and sewer rates are listed as follows:

"For the first 4,000 gallons or fraction thereof, $7.50 for water only; $5 for sewer only; $9.20 for water and sewer

"For the next 6,000 gallons or fraction thereof, per 1000, 75 cents for water only; 50 cents for sewer only; $1.25 for water and sewer

"For the next 10,000 gallons, or fraction, per 1000, 45 cents for water only; 30 cents for sewer only; 75 cents for water and sewer.

"For the excess over 20,000 gallons, per 1000, 30 cents for water only; 25 cents for sewer only; 55 cents for water and sewer

"Any further information or arrangements for a meeting to discuss the water and sewerage problem, can be arranged thru the village president, any village trustee, the village clerk, the Industrial Development Committee or the Mokena Plan Commission."

Cop's Nose Averts Tragedy

The nose and ears of Officer Charles Ruprecht, Orland Park Police Department, prevented a possible tragedy recently, involving late patrons of a coffee shop and laundry at 143d and LaGrange Rd.

Ruprecht was on patrol and as he neared the intersection detected a strong smell of gas. He had pulled up at the rear of the laundry when he heard a hissing sound. Investigating Ruprecht found that a 2-inch gas main had been broken and gas was escaping full force.

He radioed an alarm to the Orland Fire Department and then got the customers out of the laundry and the restaurant and did not allow any of them back of the building to move any cars.

Other squads arrived and sealed off the area, halting all traffic on LaGrange Rd. from 140th to 145th, and 143d from Jefferson St. to a couple of blocks east of La-Grange Rd.

Firemen put a wooden plug into the broken gas pipe and men from NI-Gas said that would hold until the pressure crew arrived.

Ruprecht discovered the break about 12:30 a.m. and kept people out of the laundry and restaurant until final repairs were completed about 4:15. Men from the gas company warned that the gas could collect in doorways or other areas some distance from the break and if accidentally ignited by a smoker or sparks from a car the fire could travel swiftly along the back trail to the area of heavy concentration endangering any persons there.

L-W Driver Education Program Outstanding

The Driver Education program at Lincoln-Way High School, under the direction of Ronald Stopka, has taken another giant step forward in being a leader not only in Illinois, but the United States.

Four years ago, under the direction of Director Stopka, Lincoln-Way began to update its driver education program in hopes of decreasing the high rate of violations and accidents caused by reckless practices and traffic violations.

After more than 18 months of research, studying and taking night courses, Stopka completed a successful three-phase instructional program which includes a classroom guide, multi-car off-street driving guide and an on-street driving guide. This three-phase program is in its third year and is starting to pay dividends by aiding Lincoln-Way students in recognizing their responsibility as drivers.

After experimenting with various types of ranges and completing the multi-car, off-street driving guide, a range was adopted that oriented the students with pre-driving procedures, turns, turn-arounds, stopping, yielding rules, and perception hazards. Lincoln-Way's driver education program hit its high point in 1966 when more than 97% of the students completed the three-phase program.

In 1966, Mr. Stopka received some helpful hints from Prof. Frank Kenel of Illinois State University on the use of radio equipment for the multi-car range driver education cars. Prof. Kenel also helped Lincoln-Way construct new driver education signs for the cars that were less hazardous, sturdier, more noticeable, and less apt to cause damage to the cars.

In 1967 Lincoln-Way's driver education staff installed transmitter converters in each driver education car which permitted direct feedback to the student while participating on the multi-car range. Most schools must invest a thousand or more dollars in radio equipment to conduct a multi-car range, but Lincoln-Way's staff found a way to use the car's original radio and operate a multi-car range for $25 per car.

Lincoln-Way's driver education program uses trained student assistants to ride with the beginning drivers on the multi-car range. They assist them in checking the fundamentals and seeing the beginning driver follows the teacher's recommendations as directed over the radio.

Qualifications needed to become a student assistant are:

1. A drivers license free of violations.
2. Willing to attend special classes for advance study in drivers education.

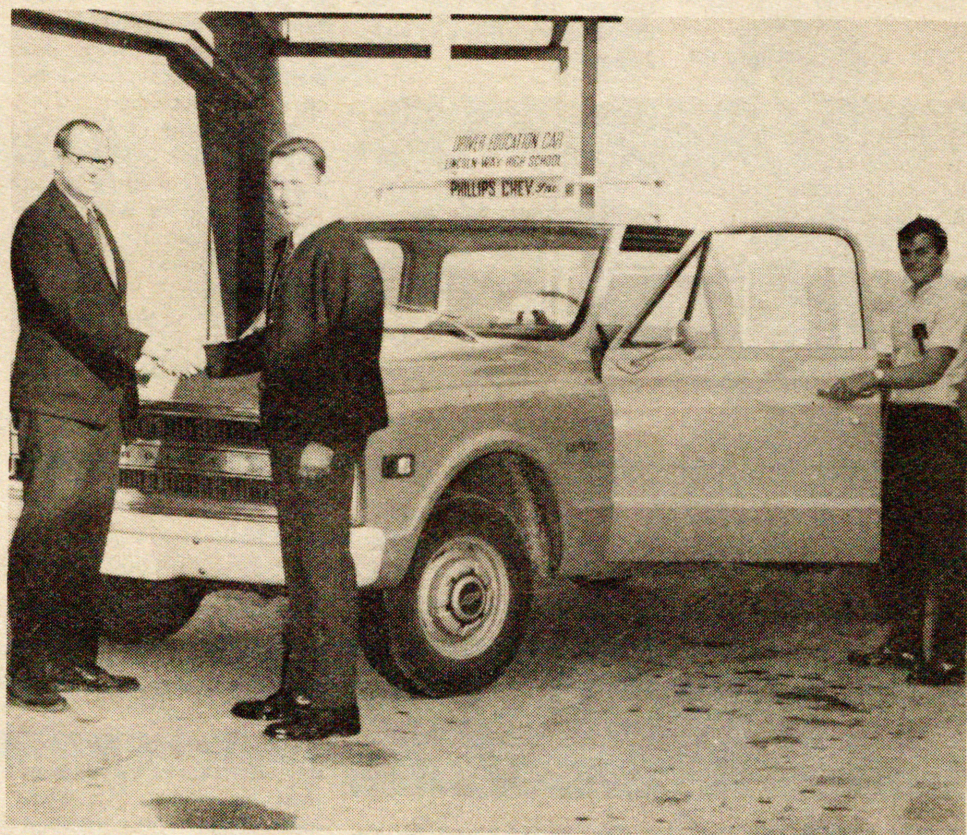

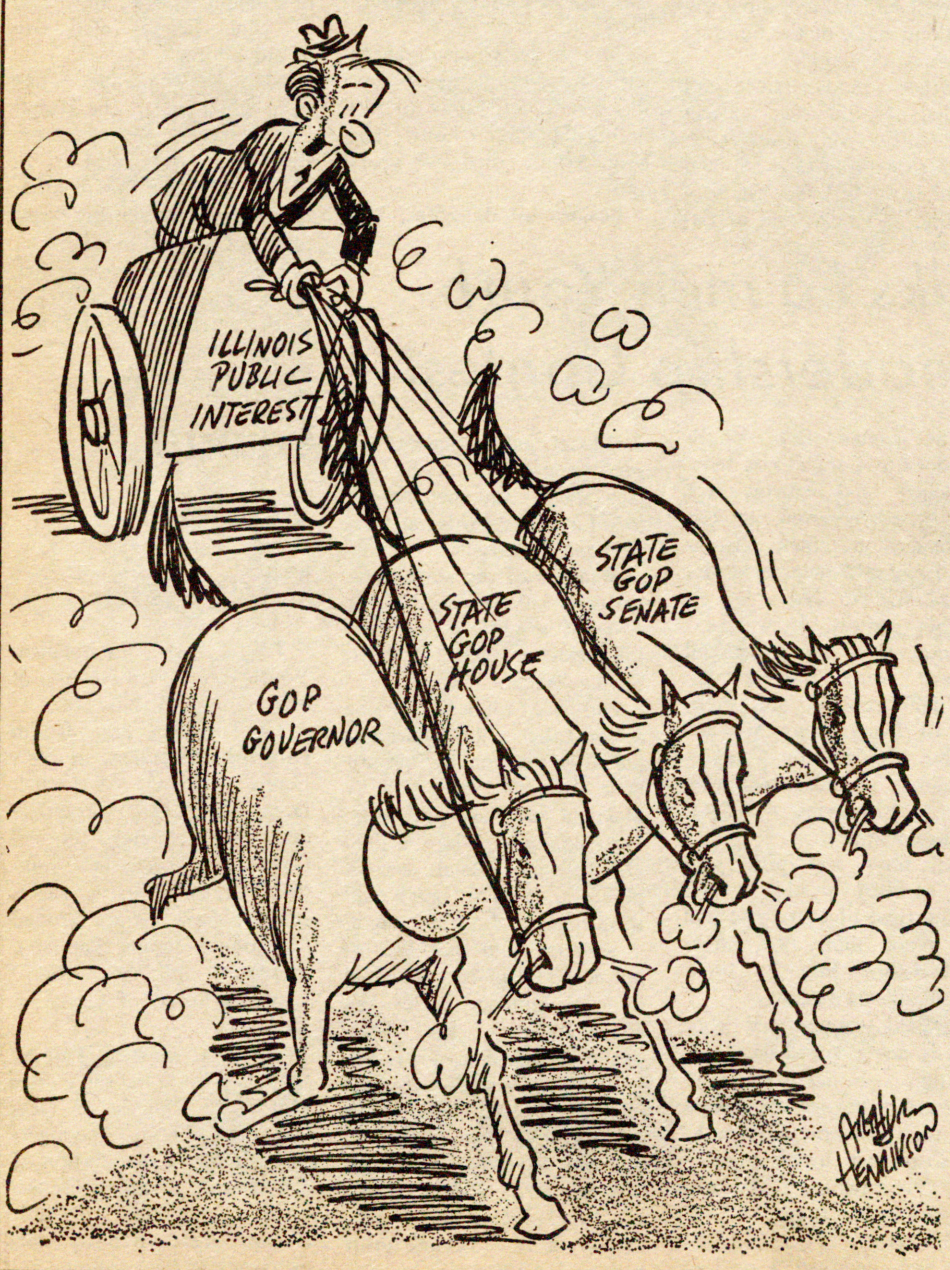

3. Must have above average grades.

Altho the program has been highly successful, Lincoln-Way has no intentions of standing still. This year they plan to add "spice to the cake" in cooperation with Gene Wagner, director of the Agriculture Department at Lincoln-Way, whose program has received state fame. Wagner and Mrs. Stopka have devised a program where all boys in agriculture will receive behind the wheel driving in a half-ton truck with a standard transmission. Philip Pascarella of Phillips Chevrolet, Frankfort, assisted us by supplying the truck. As far as Stopka knows, Lincoln-Way is one of the first schools ever to offer a service like this in Illinois. Ninety-nine per cent of the high schools in Illinois teach driver education using automatic transmission, which creates a problem for the boy when he tries to get a job, where a truck is involved. Many of Lincoln-Way's students work after school, weekends, and during the summer at gas stations, implement companies and on construction jobs where a knowledge of a truck and a standard transmission is a must. It will take a year or more to come to any conclusion as to the success of the truck in driver education.

Lincoln-Way's staff is made up of Director Stopka, Ken Clough, Robert LeZotte and Mel Oard. They have just recently completed revising the on-street teaching guide. Stopka points out that "I feel rather fortunate in being associated with the men on my staff. These teachers are dedicated to the task of doing a good job and are willing to give the second effort to make our program one of the finest. Any one of these men, because of his professional attitude, is capable of being a leader in this important field."

WE SHOULD REALLY MOVE NOW

SOMETHING NEW has been added to the drivers education program at Lincoln-Way — instruction in driving light truck with conventional gear shift. Most kids learn on automatic transmissions. This pickup was given to the school by Phillips Chevrolet Co. at Frankfort. Gene Wagner, of the L-W Vocational Ag. Dept., is at the left, congratulating Ronald Stopka on the move, and at the far right is one of the students in agriculture and driver education. (L-W photo)

Why Alcoholics Require More Anesthesia

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

By BETTY JOHN

Alcoholics already have several strikes against them when major illness or surgery suddenly confronts them.

One of their most serious problems during surgery is the enormous amount of anesthesia they require before they become sufficiently insensible to pain. Until recently, doctors have been baffled by this.

Since all anesthetics are extremely toxic agents which the lungs and kidneys must eliminate immediately after they have served their purpose, anesthesiologists use the absolute minimum dosage effective for the length of the operation and for the degree of insensitivity desired.

This is especially true in the case of chronic alcoholics, who have already overburdened their kidneys with the toxins of alcohol.

Dr. Yong H. Han, anesthesiologist at St. Vincent's Hospital and Medical Center in New York, has long been concerned that he has had to use twice as much anesthetic for alcoholics and has recommended local or regional anesthesia for them if at all possible.

He has just reported findings which he believes may be the reason for this excessive requirement.

In autopsies he performed on several chronic alcoholics and on the same number of normal individuals for comparison, he found that the test drug, halothane, an anesthetic agent, reached three times the concentration in the alcoholics' brain white matter as it did in the normal individuals'.

He also discovered that there had been extensive destruction of myelin in the alcoholics' brains and nervous systems.

Myelin is the white, fatty substance that forms a continuous, protective sheath around the soft inner material of all brain tissue and nerve fibers. When this myelin coating is destroyed by alcohol apparently the soft, insensitive portion of the brain and nerve tissue absorb toxins (in this case, anesthesia) but cannot communicate a sufficient

AIRLIFT MARVEL

Aviation experts consider the Berlin airlift a technical marvel. From June, 1948, to September, 1949, American and British planes made more than 250,000 flights to the beleaguered city and delivered more than two million tons of food, coal, petroleum, and other supplies.

A breath-controlled wheel-chair with a built-in electric respirator enables Tom Meath, a polio paralysis victim for 17 years, to move about with comparative ease.

Meath, 27, of Stamford, Conn., was totally paralyzed by polio at the age of 10. The respirator, mounted behind the seat, induces breathing by alternately inflating and deflating a belt around his abdomen.

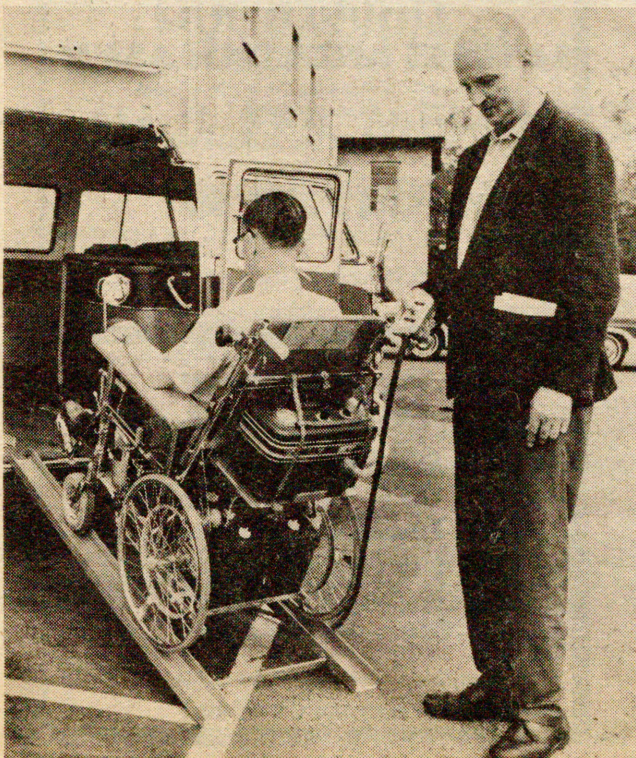

Breath pressure transmitted by means of a mouth tube activates motors that control the chair's movements.

The device was designed by Donald Selwyn, president of the Rehabilitation Engineering Institute, a non-profit organization of Pompton Lakes, N.J., offering rehabilitation engineering services for handicapped individuals.

In the photo, Tom's respirator-wheelchair is being pulled into his specially modified VW bus by an electric winch operated by David Lyle of REI.

Seated in the chair for this demonstration is Charles Stilson, a Detroit engineer.

New Hope Seen For Aching Teeth

Aren't toothaches terrible? Wouldn't it be great to be rid of them forever? Maybe soon.

Tooth decay is one of the most common ailments. Just about everybody - probably 98 per cent of us - face it at some time.

Scientists have known for years that germs play a big role in tooth decay. But nobody could figure out what could be done about them.

Not too long ago researchers found out which bacteria cause teeth to decay. The microscopic monsters belong to two major groups; some strains of streptococci and some strains of diphtheroids.

Very recently scientists have made some important discoveries about how these tiny fellows with the big names do their work.

The germs form a sticky film on our teeth. The bacteria can thrive in this film, which is called dental plaque, and produce tooth-destroying acid.

One big problem is that much of the plaque forms in places we can't get to with our toothbrushes.

The scientists have found an enzyme that appears to be able to keep the plaque from forming. They have already had great success in keeping animals' teeth healthy, and tests have begun with people.

The successes have so far been limited to the plaque formed by the streptococci bacteria, which work on the upper parts of the teeth.

The diphtheroids do their dirty work at the base and along the roots of our teeth.

Fill in each vertical column in the puzzle with the word for the picture that's pointed to that column.

If you get all the words right, there will be a word in the heavy row of boxes that we may soon be able to forget about.

ANSWERS: tooth, lion, one, cat, elephant, candy, clown, chair, key, brush. Solution: TOOTHACHES.

Dear friends,

What does a funeral cost? We can answer that very frequent question by saying that the family we serve always decides what the cost shall be. It is purely a matter of selection.

Where economy is desired, the costs can be kept within very normal limits. Regardless of selection, every modern facility we have is included in the service.

Information concerning prices is always available.

OUR THANKS

Doris and I are indeed grateful to the people of Frankfort Township who so overwhelmingly supported me in a losing cause this past Nov. 5.

No finer tribute could be paid than for a Democrat to carry 6 out of 7 precincts in Frankfort Township, in a year in which the Country went overwhelmingly Republican.

We shall always be grateful.

Arbury Hills

Lighting - Parks On Civic Agenda

Mrs. Edward Hovi
Telephone 479-5740

The Arbury Hills Civic Association will hold one of their rare general membership meetings on Monday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. in the all-purpose room of the Arbury Hills School.

There will be two major topics of discussion for the evening: "Street Lights For Arbury Hills?" and "Do We Want A Park Of Our Own?"

Please plan on attending the meeting and letting your views be known where they will do some good. Talk over the back fence or on the trains is cheap and ineffective. The Civic Association has shown itself to be an effective organization throughout the years to obtain some of the "extras" we all like. The general meeting is the place to bring out your ideas for our community.

All newcomers to the community should feel free to come out even if they are not as yet members of the organization. Your opinions are welcome, since sometimes a new outlook may be obtained by someone new to the community. Both homeowners and non-homeowning residents are eligible for the Civic Association which requires residence within the school district and the payment of an annual $3.00 dues per family.

The Summit Hill Parent-Teacher Group will hold their monthly meeting for November tonight, Thursday, Nov. 14, beginning at 8:00 P.M.

This being National Educational Week all over the country, the annual open house of the school will be held following a short business meeting.

In conjunction with National Educational Week, there will be a Book Fair which will be open to the public. The prices of the books will range from ten cents for paper coloring books for the little ones to five dollars for hard-bound adult books and all prices inbetween.

There will be books to suit the interests of all ages and classifications of people in our area. The Book Fair will be held for three days: Nov. 14, Thursday from 9:15 A.M. until 4:00 P.M. and during the hours of the meeting and the open house. On Nov. 15, Friday the hours will be 9:15 A.M. until 4:00 P.M. The final day Saturday, Nov. 16, the hours will be 9:00 A.M. until twelve noon. Come on out and browse. You may surprise yourself with the wide assortment available.

The First Nighters held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. Peggy Blending on Beechnut Drive last Thursday evening, Nov. 7.

The winner of the hostesses prize was Mrs. Lana Mortensen, and the next meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Hovi on Hickory Street on Thursday evening, Dec. 5, beginning at 8:00 P.M.

If there are any ladies in Arbury Hills who would be interested in joining the monthly get togethers, please contact Mrs. Hovi at 479-5740 for further information.

To top off the program, the Cadettes invited all the youngsters who had participated to join them in a late Halloween Party at the home of Mrs. Barbara Markowski, the troop leader, on Saturday, Nov. 2.

A noisy, happy affair it proved to be with the gaiety being enhanced by being a costume party. Games were played and token prizes awarded to the winners. To prove that these Clowns, Devils, and princesses alike, were really just kids underneath they preceded to eat up everything in sight, there own compliment to the Cadette cooks.

"Perception -- Its Training and Development" is the title of the November meeting of the Orland PTA which will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 19, at Orland Center School.

The program underway in Orland Park develops five visual perceptual skills and sensory-motor skills that lead to the development of thought processes. This is done through (1) physical exercises, (2) three-dimensional activities and (3) paper and crayon exercises.

training is used in the Classroom. Mrs. Larson -- What parents can do to prepare their children for school. Mrs. Braden -- video tape demonstration of the Gross Motor Program. This should be a very interesting and informative presentation of a new and vital area of concern for our schools.

1650 Teens To Meet At Chicago 4-H Congress

Scores of teenagers from every state are getting ready to attend the 47th National 4-H Congress in Chicago. An estimated 1,650 boys and girls, all top-notch 4-H club members, will arrive in the Windy City the Saturday after Thanksgiving. They are state delegates to the congress which will convene Dec. 1 thru 5 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

The delegates are between 15 and 19 years of age and have been 4-H members for at least three years. Many of them have had a continuous membership of up to 10 years. They will travel to Chicago with all expenses paid by private business firms that support 4-H programs.

The young delegates have distinguished themselves in some 40 different 4-H categories in their home states. They were selected as congress delegates on the basis of superior project work. Their accomplishments in citizenship, leadership and personal development also are carefully evaluated.

While in Chicago, the youths will hold assemblies to discuss the congress theme: Commitment to Responsibility. A colorful pageant written around this theme will officially open the session on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 1.

In two half-day sessions the delegates will hear an address by senior editor of Reader's Digest, Charles W. Ferguson; and judge of the county court of Philadelphia, Juanita Kidd Stout. Judge Stout last year was honored as one of eight former 4-H members to receive the national 4-H Alumni Key award presented by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.

Among other speakers will be Dr. Harold Sponberg, president of Eastern Michigan University, and Dr. Luther S. Roehm, president of Merck Chemical Division, Merck & Co., Inc. The firm sponsors the national 4-H Horse program.

Delegates to the Chicago meeting will see, hear and learn many things which will expand their horizons and contribute to their education. They will tour several of the city's famed museums such as the Science and Industry, Natural History, Aquarium, and the Art Institute.

Entertainment will include "pop concert" played by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Arthur Fiedler, a world-renowned conductor of the Boston Pops Orchestra. The Singer Company, a 4-H sponsor, will be the host for this musical treat. The recently restored Auditorium Theater will be the setting for another exciting evening, courtesy of Tupperware, also a sponsor.

The spiritual program centers around the historic Chicago Sunday Evening Club where Bishop John E. Hines of the Episcopal Church, New York City will be the guest speaker. Sunday morning the traditional 4-H service will be conducted in Central Church by the Rev. Kenneth Hildebrand.

The delegates will be accompanied to Chicago by 4-H leaders from their home states. Among the 600 adults expected will be business officials, Cooperative Extension Service leaders, members of the National 4-H Service Committee, Federal Extension Service, news media representatives from nearly every state and special friends of 4-H.

Among the nearly 60 firms and foundations that help make the national 4-H Congress possible are: Ford Motor Company Fund; Chevron Chemical Company - Ortho Division; Ralston Purina Company; American Forest Institute; Homelite, A Division of Textron Inc., and E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Company.

Others include: Chicago Board of Trade; Sunbeam Corporation, The West Bend Company; Massey - Ferguson Inc.; Eastman Kodak Company; Union 76 Division, Union Oil Company of California; Moorman Mfg. Co.; International Minerals & Chemical Corporation; Edwin T. Meredith Foundation; The Milwaukee Road; Cities Service Oil Company and Elgin National Watch Company.

• Why wait for a gas self-cleaning oven?

Go out and buy one.

The ranges good cooks have been holding out for are here. New gas ranges with self-cleaning ovens. (And everything else.)

The oven cleans itself automatically. Reduces dirt and soil to clean, white, wipe-away ash. And you can even vary the cleaning cycle according to the amount of soil in your oven.

But that won't help you cook any better.

What will...are the features of gas ranges. Traditional ones, like precision control of every phase of top-of-stove cooking. And new exciting ones...like automatic cooking and gas infrared broiling.

(Gas infrared broiling units cook quickly...provide eye-appealing browning, too.)

See the new gas ranges with self-cleaning ovens at your nearest Northern Illinois Gas Company office or appliance dealer.

Educational Development Cooperative (EDC) of South Cook and North Will counties. The collection represents the special library materials chosen by EDC staff and membership with extra funds made available under one of the provisions of Title II of ESEA to the representative of both public and non-public schools who are not members of any other formal Title II cooperative arrangement.

As a result of recent action by EDC's governing boards (superintendents of 62 districts), the materials which have been housed in four library centers will now become part of a centralized operation from EDC headquarters in Homewood, according to L. M. Olmsted, executive director.

The action results in combining the social materials from Canterbury Junior High in Markham Elementary District 144, the Fine Arts materials in Reavis High School District 220, the special education materials housed at SPEED headquarters in Homewood, with the professional materials at EDC. A delivery and return schedule is currently being worked out to provide service to both public and non-public schools under EDC's Title II operation. In addition, a program of reciprocity with other Title II cooperatives in the area is being explored.

During EDC's initial planning year (1966-67), proxies were received from districts and schools representing 74,473 students. In the coming year (1969-70), 88,966 students are represented by the proxies received.

In the past two years, the student per capita amount allocated to EDC for library materials under Title II for those not covered by another cooperative has been about 45 cents. The exact amount for 1969-70 is not yet known.

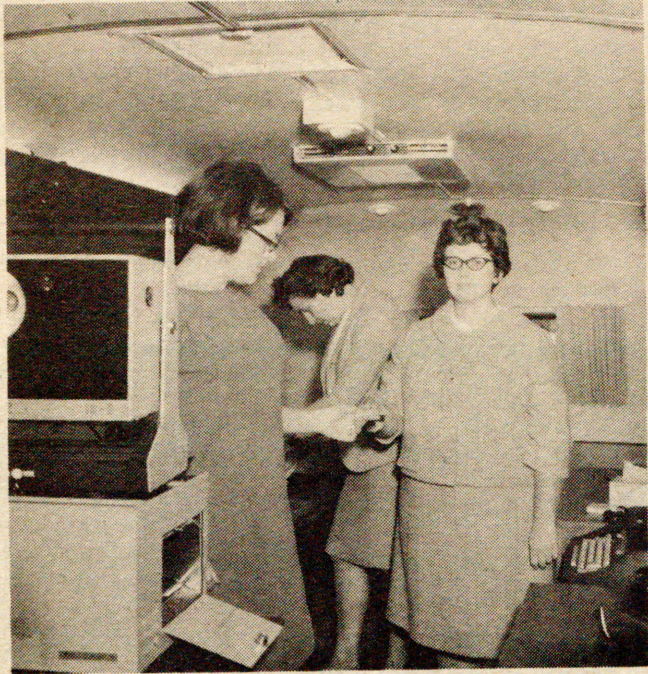

According to Denise Spreitzer, EDC librarian, the Title II funds have generally been used to purchase materials that might otherwise be too expensive for individual school districts to acquire.

An example is the complete EBEF Humanities film series including "Hamlet", "Macbeth", "Oedipus Rex", and "Great Expectations", all filmed in England and complete with three-part analyses.

Another is 180 new volumes dealing with specific special education problems of learning disabilities, perceptual motor coordination, deaf education, and a film series, "Aids for Teaching the Mentally Retarded Child," designed to help teachers in the development and creation of inexpensive perceptual - motor training materials.

For those seeking information on research and funded projects on a nation-wide basis, there is also available the 100,000 ERIC document microfiche library.

A QUICK FLASH, one minute for processing, and Mary Ann Lyons, front, a teacher in Lieb school, Ridgeland Elementary District 122; Oak Lawn, receives a color Poloroid I-D card from Denise Spreitzer, librarian for the Educational Development Cooperative (EDC) of South Cook and North Will counties. In the background, Chloe White, EDC's micro-media coordinator, prepares for the next "customer" during a recent photo taking session of all Oak Lawn's school personnel inside EDC's mobile laboratory. The I-D cards serve two purposes - as individual district - identification, at a cost of 30 cents per card, and as identification for faculty members who use the materials in EDC's newly centralized Title II professional library. The identification card service is available to all EDC member elementary and secondary school districts.

hints for Homeowners

Horticulture

Most people are about ready to give a sigh of relief as the lawn care season comes to an end. It means a temporary rest from a full season of activity. There are just a few final chores to do before snow arrives.

By all means keep cutting the lawn as long as it needs it. You can cut it at the same height or even a little shorter. Left long, it means you will have to rake out a lot of dead grass next spring.

Disease problems will be reduced if all leaves are raked from the lawn now. Their soaking and matting will prevent air circulation and thus create favorable humid conditions for the various grass diseases.

Even before leaves are raked some lawns this fall are exhibiting powdery mildew. If severe, it can kill fall plantings of new lawns. A heavily infected lawn looks as if it has been dusted with flour or lime. Examination of the grass blades reveals a white, powder-like growth. Since this fungus grows on the outside of the blade of grass it can easily be controlled by an application of Karathane.

Some people apply fertilizer at this time. This eliminates storage of leftover partial bags which may become lumpy over winter.

However, it can, during a warm, late fall, cause a flush of growth that is less winter hardy. Many people feel it is safer to wait until next March.

After all the lawn chores are finished it is a good idea to wind up with some special care for the power mower. A few minutes spent now will save hours next spring and will probably increase the mower's life. Start by draining the oil and replacing it with new oil. Next run the motor to thoroughly circulate the new oil. Allow the motor to run until the gasoline supply is exhausted. This will dry the tank, fuel lines, and carburetor. Gasoline left in the motor over winter will evaporate leaving a gummy deposit. This will make spring starting difficult.

Finally remove the spark plug and add a tablespoon of oil in the hole. If the spark plug is on a side, inject the oil from a measuring spoon with an eye dropper. Turn the engine over a few times by pulling the starter cord. This will coat the cylinder and valves with the rust-preventing oil. Be sure to replace the spark plug.

Finally, check the air cleaner, the cutting blade, and cover the exhaust pipe with a tin can.

Your lawn and mower are now ready for action the first thing next spring.

Finds Chisel Plow Cuts Soil Erosion

A.J. Brader, who farms 160 acres in Green Garden Township, is plowing with a chisel this fall instead of the moldboard plow which he used in the past. "My chisel plow leaves part of the crop residue on the soil surface over winter and helps prevent wind erosion," Brader said.

Many other area farmers are adopting some method of "conservation tillage" which will reduce soil erosion and loss of fertilizer from their fields.

Allan May, of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service at Joliet says that all area farmers should consider the following cultural practices to reduce wind erosion next spring.

--Delay plowing sandy soils until spring.

--Delay plowing soybean stubble until spring. Fall-plowed soybean ground is especially subject to wind erosion. If you must fall plow, make a light seeding of spring oats as early in the fall as possible.

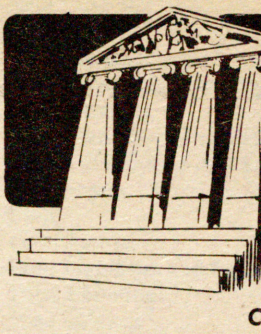

--Use a chisel plow. The plow leaves part of the crop residue on the surface. The rough surface catches small soil particles picked up by the wind.

--Leave a rough surface on fall-plowed cornfields to reduce soil movement. Spring oats seedings will also help if they are made early in the fall. Unplowed strips -- not disked or shredded -- will also provide a barrier to stop soil being moved by the wind. The strips should be 15 feet wide and should be spaced every 100 to 120 feet. Plan the strips to lay nearly perpendicular to the prevailing wind.

Christian Science Service

The traditional Thanksgiving Day services in First Church of Christ, Scientist, at Joliet on Nov. 28 will include a period for testimonies of gratitude to God from individuals in the congregation.

The service is at 11 a.m. and the church is located at 201 Sherman St. The public is invited.

Horse Program A Popular Project

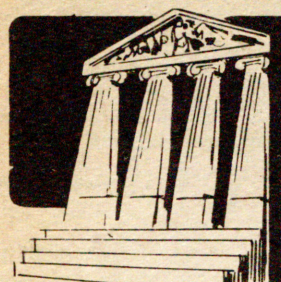

Most people thought the tractor would relegate horses to the role now played by the buffalo - - an oddity and relic of a bygone era.
But to the surprise of many, horses have gained in popularity in the last decade, and now enjoy the enviable position of being part of one of America's favorite pastimes - - horseback riding.

But there's more to horseback riding than just saddling up and riding, as boys and girls between 9 and 19 years of age in the 4-H Horse program well know.

These youngsters, numbering nearly 190,000 nationally, study and know about behavior, anatomy, health, breeding, training, judging, grooming and showing through manuals provided by the Cooperative Extension Service.

The 4-H horse program is one of nearly 100 projects and activities offered to the nation's young people in all 50 states plus Puerto Rico. Contact the Will County Cooperative Extension Office, 100 Manhattan Road, phone 727-1173, for information on joining 4-H, the club 53 years old with a promising future.

It's Happening In Southern Illinois

(About people, places and events in Southern Illinois, by Pete Brown of the Southern Illinois University News Services.)

An apparent attempt by Confederate soldiers to kidnap the son of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant -- at a time when Grant was mounting the Vicksburg campaign -- is described in a long-forgotten magazine article which has been unearthed and reprinted by the Ulysses S. Grant Association.

The plot was foiled by Grant's adoring sister-in-law, Emma Dent Casey, who was the author of the memoir that first appeared in a magazine called The Circle, in 1909. Mrs. Casey was then 70.

As she described it, young Frederick Dent Grant, then living with his mother in Cairo while U.S. Grant fought the Civil War, went to Caseyville, Ky. to visit his aunt and uncle.

One morning he went with his uncle to town. They hadn't been gone long, Mrs. Casey recalled, when a man in a tattered Confederate officer's uniform rode into her yard and asked for a drink of water. Then:

"I guess Fred Grant is visiting you, isn't he?"

"Instantly a cold suspicion struck me like a dart through the heart, and I answered him as casually as he had questioned me:

"Why, no."

"Oh," he said, "isn't he?"

"No, he's gone."

"Gone, has he? Is that so?" He looked at me with a smile slowly breaking over his face. "Surely, he has," he said again, as if speaking to himself. Then he remounted his horse, took off his hat, made me a sweeping bow and rode away.

"I did not lose a moment, but as quick as one of the horses could be caught out of the pasture, I put a black boy on his back and sent him to find my husband. I sent Mr. Casey word to put Fred on a coal boat and get him down the river to Cairo as fast as ever he could. I also suggested that if he could communicate with a gunboat on the river it might be very well."

Shortly afterward, another man rode up and asked if the boy were there. She fended him off, too. And then, five hours later, a squad of eight cavalymen, one of whom looked "as fierce as a Greek bandit," charged up to the gate and demanded to know if young Grant had truly gone.

"Yes," she replied, "and I think there is likely to be some gunboats coming up the river very shortly, looking for someone. Perhaps you gentlemen will be interested in seeing them."

The men rode away, leaving Emma Dent Casey to muse:

"There is no doubt, of course, that they were looking for Fred, and had they found him they would certainly have dealt his father a hard blow. It is mere speculation to consider what effect this might have had on the cause of the Union."

The U.S. Grant Association, which has its headquarters at Southern Illinois University, has done much in recent years to shed historical light on the legendary General. The resulting illumination also has banished some of the less appealing mythology surrounding the man. Particularly the stories about his heroic boozing.

Mrs. Casey wrote:

"During all the time I knew Grant, between his return from California in 1854 (when Grant first quit the Army) to the fall of Vicksburg, I never saw him intoxicated. I never saw him under the influence of liquor. If he ever was it was not known to the members of his immediate family. Charges that he was a heavy drinker were made in those days, and have been made since. General Grant never gave them any notice. Mrs. Grant also ignored them, though she felt deeply cut by the injustice of them, and, perhaps, it is not my place at this late date to resent the recent statements made by a prominent man in public life, under the very shadow of Grant's tomb. Therefore, I will content myself by saying again, that if General Grant was ever a victim of the liquor habit it was a condition which he happily concealed.
